Historical Museum / Statues of Masataka and Rita Taketsuru
 Currently, the wooden Western-style building is the Historical Museum, and its garden is open for public use. In the middle of the garden is the statues of Nikka Whiskey founder Masataka Taketsuru and his wife Rita.

Okakae Jizo Statue

This Jizo Statue was built in 1650. The size is about 30 cm high. Pick up and hold the Okakae Jizo Statue, while making a wish and repeat " O n ka ka ka bi – sa m ma e i so wa ka" .

If you feel light your wish may come true.

Fujii Distillery (sampling and sales of sake)

The Fujii Distillery is an established 150 years old. You can try some sake here. It is a place you cannot miss if you love sake. You can also try some soba (buckwheat noodles) here at Tanizaki's, a restaurant which uses the same clear tasting water used to make its sake.

Tipsy Tour around Sake Cellars in Saijo

TOURIST SPOT

○Furansuya

There is a Japanese-Western restaurant and a relaxing space. You can enjoy seasonal cuisine and sake at Furansuya. You can enjoy a stewed dish of Hiroshima beef using Japanese sake and red wine, and a traditional sake pot that said to Bishunabe. It cost about 1,600 yen per person. Opening hours in lunch time are 11:30 to 14:30, closed every Wednesday and first, second Monday.

○Saijo Sakagura-Dori street

Saijo Sakagura-dori street is near JR Saijo station. It takes about 5 minutes on foot. Seven sake breweries are on the east side of the station. You can find white walls of a breweries and red brick chimneys. You can enjoy the historic atmosphere.

○Kamozuru

This factory is a very famous sake factory in Hiroshima. Here you can see a movie of the process of making sake for about twenty minutes. There are also tools for making sake, shooting spots, and you can taste sake for free. In addition, there are sweets made with sake and some goods sold. You can enjoy it to the full.

○Sakuraya

Sakuraya is a Japanese confectionery store. A traditional Japanese confectionery started its business more than 100 years ago. You can buy Tarumonaca and sweet buns using Saijo's famous Japanese sake. Tarumonaca is barrel shape sweets. It is also right in front of Saijo station, so it is a perfect souvenir from Saijo.
